

АНГЛИЙСКИЙ ЯЗЫК

Результат - 40%

Часть А

А 1

Прочитайте текст. Выберите один из предложенных вариантов ответа. Louis Armstrong, who was born in 1900 and died in 1971, was a very famous jazz musician and bandleader. He used to be known as 'Satchmo', and this nickname (A1) ... with him all his life. As a child in New Orleans, he learned to play the trumpet while he (A2) ... in a special home for children who (A3) ... into trouble with the police. When he (A4) ... his stay in the home, he joined various bands and then he formed his own. Between 1925 and 1928 he made about sixty records as the leader of two small groups called the Hot Fives and the Hot Sevens. These records made him one of the first solo stars in the history of popular music. When he died, he (A5) ... records and he (A6) ... all over the world for more than forty years, and he was just as popular as he (A7) ... before. He even had a number one pop record — What A Wonderful World — in the 1960s.

was staying

had been staying

has been staying

✓ stayed

А 2

Прочитайте текст. Выберите один из предложенных вариантов ответа. Louis Armstrong, who was born in 1900 and died in 1971, was a very famous jazz musician and bandleader. He used to be known as 'Satchmo', and this nickname (A1) ... with him all his life. As a child in New Orleans, he learned to play the trumpet while he (A2) ... in a special home for children who (A3) ... into trouble with the police. When he (A4) ... his stay in the home, he joined various bands and then he formed his own. Between 1925 and 1928 he made about sixty records as the leader of two small groups called the Hot Fives and the Hot Sevens. These records made him one of the first solo stars in the history of popular music. When he died, he (A5) ... records and he (A6) ... all over the world for more than forty years, and he was just as popular as he (A7) ... before. He even had a number one pop record — What A Wonderful World — in the 1960s.

had got

✓ have been got

got

have got

А 3

Прочитайте текст. Выберите один из предложенных вариантов ответа. Louis Armstrong, who was born in 1900 and died in 1971, was a very famous jazz musician and bandleader. He used to be known as 'Satchmo', and this nickname (A1) ... with him all his life. As a child in New Orleans, he learned to play the trumpet while he (A2) ... in a special home for children who (A3) ... into trouble with the police. When he (A4) ... his stay in the home, he joined various bands and then he formed his own. Between 1925 and 1928 he made about sixty records as the leader of two small groups called the Hot Fives and the Hot Sevens. These records made him one of the first solo stars in the history of popular music. When he died, he (A5) ... records and he (A6) ... all over the world for more than forty years, and he was just as popular as he (A7) ... before. He even had a number one pop record — What A Wonderful World — in the 1960s.

fifth

✓ has finished

had finished

was finishing

A 4

Прочитайте текст. Выберите один из предложенных вариантов ответа. Louis Armstrong, who was born in 1900 and died in 1971, was a very famous jazz musician and bandleader. He used to be known as 'Satchmo', and this nickname (A1) ... with him all his life. As a child in New Orleans, he learned to play the trumpet while he (A2) ... in a special home for children who (A3) ... into trouble with the police. When he (A4) ... his stay in the home, he joined various bands and then he formed his own. Between 1925 and 1928 he made about sixty records as the leader of two small groups called the Hot Fives and the Hot Sevens. These records made him one of the first solo stars in the history of popular music. When he died, he (A5) ... records and he (A6) ... all over the world for more than forty years, and he was just as popular as he (A7) ... before. He even had a number one pop record — What A Wonderful World — in the 1960s.

✓ was making

had been making

made

has been making

Часть B

B 1

Прочитайте текст. Выберите один из предложенных вариантов ответа. Louis Armstrong, who was born in 1900 and died in 1971, was a very famous jazz musician and bandleader. He used to be known as 'Satchmo', and this nickname (A1) ... with him all his life. As a child in New Orleans, he learned to play the trumpet while he (A2) ... in a special home for children who (A3) ... into trouble with the police. When he (A4) ... his stay in the home, he joined various bands and then he formed his own. Between 1925 and 1928 he made about sixty records as the leader of two small groups called the Hot Fives and the Hot Sevens. These records made him one of the first solo stars in the history of popular music. When he died, he (A5) ... records and he (A6) ... all over the world for more than forty years, and he was just as popular as he (A7) ... before. He even had a number one pop record — What A Wonderful World — in the 1960s.

Ответ:

lived

Ваш ответ:

revolution